STEAMSHIP SUNK.

The Pommerania from New York Goes Down in the English Channel.

COLLISION WITH AN IRON SHIP

The Passengers Asleep in their Berths at the Time of the Disaster.

SIXTY PERSONS DROWNED AND MISSING.

The Saved and the Lost.—Scene of the Calamity.—Arrival of Survivors at Dover and Plymouth.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Noon.

Steamship Pommerania, Schwenzen, from New York, Nov. 14, for Hamburg, and arrived at Plymouth at midnight, 24th instant, was sunk by collision with a Welsh bark off Folkestone, last night. Fifty persons missing, one hundred and sixty-two saved.

Another despatch says the Pommerania came in collision about midnight, during a fog, about eight miles southwest of Folkestone, with a vessel reported to be the Welsh barque Noel Eilian of Carnarvon, Rotterdam for Cardiff, in ballast.

The Pommerania was on her way from Plymouth to Hamburg. The steamship foundered in about ten minutes. One hundred and seventy-two passengers and crew were saved by steamer Glengary and landed at Dover. The vessel with which the Pommerania collided is anchored off Folkestone, with bows stove and her forward compartment full of water. A tug has gone to her assistance.

LONDON, Nov. 26—12 30 P. M.

A telegram says 162 persons on the Pommerania were saved, and 58 are missing, including Captain Schwenzen.

Another telegram says the collision occurred at forty minutes after eleven o'clock last night, during a dense fog. The Pommerania sank in thirty minutes after. One hundred and seventy persons were saved out of a total of 220, and fifty are believed to be lost, including Captain Schwenzen, Second Officer Fokkes and Third Officer Zarrow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.

A London special says on the lost steamship Pommerania at the time of the collision nearly all the passengers were in their berths, and many went down with the vessel. One hundred and seventy-two of the saved have arrived at Dover, and a few survivors have reached Plymouth. Sixty persons are missing, including the captain, first engineer and doctor. They are believed to be drowned.

Mr. Luckie, the retiring member of the New York banking firm of August Belmont & Co., and his wife and three children, were passengers on this steamship, but it is not known whether they were saved or not. The mails and specie were landed at Plymouth, where the vessel touched before the accident occurred.

New York, Nov. 26.

The following furnished by the Hamburg American Steamship Company is believed to be an accurate list of the lost or missing passengers by the Pommerania:

Mrs. W. B. Clymer, Philadelphia; Miss Maria Heister Clymer, Philadelphia; Mr. B. W. Clymer, Philadelphia, Alexander Bodisco, New York; Bovis Bodisco, New York; Mrs. Anna Bodisco, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Lucke and three children, New York; Miss Amalie Wolff, New York; W. S. Wertzenhoffer, New York; H. Stengel, New York; Chr. Schuchardt, New York; Arnold Prink, New York.

THOSE WHO LANDED.

The following passengers were landed at Cherbourg: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ward, three children and two servants, of New York; Mrs. Rufus King, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Armstein, two children and nurse, of San Francisco: Mrs. E. Koenig, of Crefeld; Mrs. Clementine S. Friere and family, of Washington; L. F. Schwartz, New York: Otto Kornemand, New York; Miss Catoline Kozi, St. Louis; Prof. Henry Robyn, St. Louis.

THE RESCUED.

A dispatch from Dover gives the following list of the rescued passengers: Miss Mary Clymer, Miss Rose N. Clymer, Mr. C. Poppenhausen, Alfred Fabor, Julius Charles, H. Muller, Emiel Block, Obenstiel, Schon, Hahn, Furr, Rauch, Thiel, Laumar, Burke, Strasio, Inskinsky, Kahn, Rafield, wife and two children, Schatler, Cross, Posmner, Sad, Mushall, Park, Luze, Bodemacher, Mestphal, Simon, Grohe, Schmidt, Schneider, Block, Samp.

PASSENGER'S STATEMENTS.

Albert Faber states that he was in his berth, only two sections from the spot where the Pommerania was stove. He rushed on deck partly dressed and found everything in confusion and thick darkness. He met the Misses Clymer on deck and assisted them into a boat. The ladies were cool and collected.

Mrs. Ohrnstiel says she had retired and was awakened by the terrific crash. She sprang from her berth and gained the deck, where all was impenetrable darkness. The steerage passengers were crying loudly. She was pushed towards a life boat which was just then being lowered. Even after getting afloat there seemed little hope for safety, but they soon saw the light of the Glengary, which took them on board.

All these five persons speak in the highest terms of the captain who was on the bridge nearly all of the previous three days and nights.

Roderick Schneider, a passenger, states that he was in the cabin reading at the time of the collision. He rushed on deck and got into the last boat just before the ship sank. The boat was whirled round and round, so he quite expected it would be drawn under. It was under charge of the first mate, and remained alongside of the sinking vessel until about two minutes before she sank. The captain, replying to repeated entreaties to get into the boat, asked them to stand alongside, when the mate shouted, "We have waited long enough." The captain told them to pull away a little and wait. Just then the vessel sank. As she went down Capt. Schwensen threw up his arms and exclaimed, "Oh, God!" While the boat was rowing about we saw many people in the water with life preservers wrongly put on, so that the lower part of the body was floating while the head was under water. We did not pick them up.

The Central News says it is believed Capt. Schwensen and his wife perished. Their four-year-old child was saved as well as several other young children. The Pommeranian landed fourteen first-class passengers and twenty-six others at Cherbourg. The Moel Eilian struck the Pommerania on the star board side about the funnel, making a large aperture. Blue lights were sent up. Two boats were smashed and one swamped. Five were launched with 162 of the passengers and crew. All were picked up by the Glengary, which hove to on seeing the Pommerania's signals. The Moel Eilian disappeared in the darkness and was not seen afterwards. Chief Officer Frazen commanded the last boat. As he put off, the Captain, who was on the bridge, called to him to keep as close to the Pommerania as possible. He had to about ten yards from the steamer, but she went down in a few minutes. The boat had forty people on board, and had taken in considerable water and was too much laden to attempt the rescue of any persons floating. We rowed to the Glengary, which stood by during the night, and we saved one passenger from the water. At daylight the topmast of the Pommerania and her fore and mainyards were visible above the water, but there was nobody in the rigging. The Glengary then steamed for Dover, and the tug Granville took the people into the harbor, where they were taken to the Sailors' Home.

THE COLLIDING BARK.

The Moel Eilian is now anchored in Dover harbor. She is a magnificent new iron bark of 1100 tons gross, owned in Liverpool, classed 100 A1, built at Sunderland last year. What was her bow is merely a gaping figure. Only her water compartments kept her afloat.

THE CAPTAIN SAVED.

LONDON, Nov. 27.

A telegram is received at the Lloyds, from Maassluis, Holland, announcing that steamer City of Amsterdam had arrived there with the captain of the Pommerania on board.

THE EXPORT OF CATTLE.—Unless there should be some restrictive legislation in England, the export of cattle from Boston the next spring and summer is expected to largely exceed any former amount. Shippers prefer this port to any other in the country, because the cars containing the animals can be taken directly to the side of the vessels in which the conveyance to their European destination is to be made. Steamers have already been engaged far into the summer for the purpose of cattle transportation.

"What," the young man asked the young woman who was waiting for him to ask for his hat, "what do I put you in mind of?" "A French clock," she said softly. And pretty soon he arose and went on his way. The next morning he called upon an eminent horologist and asked him what was the distinguishing trait of a French clock. The horologist said, "Why, it never goes." And the young man was sorely cast down, and he grieved and told no man of his hurt.—[Hawkeye.

TILDEN AT WORK.

Plans for Renomination—Bulldozing the Democracy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.

It has been known for some time here among prominent Democratic politicians that Mr. Tilden is actively engaged in mapping out a plan of campaign which will insure him the Democratic nomination at the next national convention.

It is now ascertained that he has emissaries at work in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri, Kentucky, Illinois, Ohio and some of the smaller States. In his instructions to these parties he has confidentially stated that so far as New York is concerned, he and his friends will be able to hold that vote against all the influence of Tammany.

The grounds upon which his friends renew their claim are that he was defrauded out of the election. As part of this scheme Montgomery Blair has issued a pronunciamento in which he and takes occasion to refer to the leading Democrats like Hewitt, Bayard and Thurman, whom he denounces as jobbers and responsible for the commission which deprived Tilden of his office.

His denunciation of the Southern leaders, whom he calls Hayes Democrats, and to whom he sold out the party, occasions much feeling among these men and they intimate that such tactics will not work. They regard his and the alleged attempt to use money to secure the presidency as weak and frivolous, and assert if Mr. Tilden is innocent he will have an opportunity to vindicate himself by appearing before the committee after the assembling of Congress.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

GOLD AND STOCK TOUTS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.

Rumors are current here of the information of a great pool clique to bull the gold market. Among stock brokers the subject was much discussed. Prominent members of the stock exchange say the combination for this purpose was made as last Thursday, and four million of coin has already been purchased and it is proposed to buy $10,000,000 altogether. Some say the pool is abundantly and the original plan of its leaders was to make sudden large purchases of gold early in December, when it was also understood a bear attack was to be made upon the stock market. Conservative bankers laugh at the boast of this clique, and say the plot is simply concocted for the purpose of which they seek to depress. The banks here will not give these speculators any assistance, and without their support any material further advance in the gold premium is looked upon as extremely improbable. Gould, Keene and Sage are each accused of being in this pool or combination.

ABLE TO CARRY $40,000,000,

Murder of a Physician.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26.

A special from Augusta, Hancock county, Ill., says Dr. Daniel Pierson, a physician, was called up at 9 o'clock Saturday night by an unknown man, who said he worked for Mr. Gorwoods, about 30 miles distant, and he had been sent to call the doctor to attend Mrs. Gorwoods. The doctor at once saddled his horse and started. About an hour later he was found lying by the roadside horribly mangled his skull broken by an iron bar which was lying near him. Dr. Pierson was a member of the Board of Trustees and very active in suppressing lawlessness. It is thought that some one who received punishment at the doctor's instigation committed the murder.

PERSONALS.

.....President Cheney of Bates College was in Paris at last accounts.

.....Governor Rice introduced Mr. Washburne at Music Hall, Boston, last night when he delivered his lecture "Paris and the Commune."

.....It is stated that though the late Cardinal Cullen held an immense sum of money in trust for charitable purposes, at his death he was personally worth only about $5000.

.....Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer, is said to be ambitious for a diplomatic or consular appointment under the English Government, but is not likely to get it.

.....Senators Edmunds and Morrill, of Vermont, Representatives Joyce of Vermont and Representative Blair of New Hampshire are the only New England congressmen in Washington.

.....Rev. Dr. Richard S. Storrs completed on Sunday his thirty-second year as pastor of the Church of the Pilgrims in Brooklyn. He has had no other pastorate, and the church has had no other pastor.

.....The merchants of Cincinnati have presented Dr. T. C. Minor, Health Officer of the city, a thousand dollar silver service in recognition of his heroic and intelligent services during the yellow-fever epidemic.

.....It is reported that the frigate Black Prince with the Duke of Edinburgh will visit New York after the reception festivities in Canada are over. The Duke will also visit Washington and be the guest of Minister Thornton.

.....Mr. Murphy, the temperance advocate, writes from New York: "It has been stated that I receive $200 a night. I must trust to your confidence in my truthfulness, and tell you that I have not the promise of a cent from any one in the world for the work I am doing. This is all I have to say on this topic."

.....Justice Miller, of the Supreme Court, says that even on the bench David Davis was a good politician, who controlled most of the appointments, and that, upright and frank, he has earned more money than any other man who ever was a Justice of the Supreme Court.

.....Mr. Peter A. Tighe of Memphis died of yellow fever, and so did the doctor who attended him, the undertaker who laid him out, and the clergyman who officiated at his funeral; so an insurance company which required their certificate has refused to pay over the sum for which his life was insured.

.....The resignation of Thos. N. Vail, General Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service, has been accepted, and William B. Thompson, Superintendent of the Ninth Division of the service at Cleveland, will take his place, being himself succeeded by Mr. Lovell, late head clerk of the same service at New York.

CALIFORNIA EXTRAVAGANCE.

HOW A CALIFORNIAN LIVES—HIS DWELLING, TABLE AND DRESS.

Of all the people the most extravagant are the Californians. They not only spend more absolutely because they earn more, but they spend more relatively. The great motive of economy—fear of the future—is much weaker here than elsewhere. A large part of the population are solitary men, who think that no matter what pecuniary loss may overtake them, they can always earn a living and soon accumulate a little money again. Poverty is not accompanied by the same privations or the same social discredit here as in older communities. The Californian who has conducted himself as a gentleman knows that many of his old acquaintances, even if they were not his friends when he was prosperous, will give him aid in his need. It is not in them to turn their backs; sentiment and custom require them to be generous. The frequency of the great and sudden changes from poverty to wealth and from wealth to poverty breeds a feeling of obligation to one another. Many unfortunates do not get the benefit of this mutual helpfulness, but others do, and it influences the general mode of life.

The tendency of the business of Californian towards speculation has the effect of stimulating people to immediate enjoyment. Before the completion of the telegraph across the continent merchandising was of large risks and sudden turns. A few weeks might see a change from a scarcity to a glut, or from a glut to a scarcity. There was no regularity in prices or supplies. After the opening of the Comstock lode, the shares were thrown into the San Francisco market, and by their remarkable fluctuations, became its most remarkable feature. The rapid rise in city lots and agricultural lands, under the influence of great additions to the population, added to the fondness for bold pecuniary ventures. Never did any country offer baits so numerous or so seductive to the gambling appetite, which is strong in human nature, and usually breaks out strongly wherever it has a chance. A government that does prohibit lotteries and gambling games—even those conducted honestly, as many have been, on the principle of giving only fifty cents or seventy-five cents in return for $1—is justly considered an accomplice in the impoverishment of the people.

The spirit of '49 has died out. Many of those who were here in the dash era of the early places mining have not freed themselves from its influence. Our local experience has proved that nothing does so ruin men generally as a sudden change to high wages. There never was a more extravagant, wasteful and dissipated set of men than the placer miners. They who had been sober and industrious, and had saved money when they earned $16 a month, before coming to California, became idle and drunken, and saved nothing when they earned $200. They spent as fast as they made their money. This was not the universal rule, but the custom was more common than elsewhere. Poverty is the mother of economy. The barren soil of Scotland and New England, and the pitiful little farms of France are the best breeding places for thrift. Wellington said that a French army could subsist in comfort, and a Spanish army in luxury, with supplies on which an English army would starve.

The evidences of Californian extravagance are to be seen on every side. The dwellings, furniture, tables and dress of the people indicate very liberal expenditure. San Francisco has the reputation of buying the most costly wines, cigars and silks. A saying, not deserving to be dignified as a proverb, declares that "New York dresses better than Paris, and San Francisco better than New York." The magnificent hotels and the palaces of a dozen millionnaires are unsurpassed if equalled, by anything short of royalty in the luxury of their appointments. There is a large demand for the best that can be had. California consumes 20,000 dozen of genuine sparkling wine annually, and the Atlantic slope, with fifty times as many people, does not consume seven times as much champagne. California uses sixty pounds of sugar to the person in a year, the Atlantic slope twenty-five, Great Britain forty, France twenty, ten in this state, and seven in the other states. Of tea, the average Californian drinks six pounds in a twelvemonth, the other American two, the Britain four, the Frenchman and Italian less than a quarter of a pound. The figures of the consumption of many other articles of comfort and luxury are incomplete, a large proportion of our imports coming though New York and paying duty there, and being forwarded to California under circumstances that leave no opportunity to ascertain their value or amount. Though it consumes largely of foreign goods imported at New York, with one-fiftieth of the population, it pays one-thirtieth of the customs at San Francisco, and the average consumption of foreign products is at least twice as great as on the Atlantic. The extravagance of which we have spoken is not confined to a few; it is characteristic of the community generally, and it is worse, relatively, among the poor than the rich. Many of the wealthy families owe their wealth to simplicity of life more than to large gains.

The latest development in the Hayden-Stannard murder case is the finding of a two-bladed knife near where the body of the unfortunate girl was found. It may have been left there by one of the thousands who have visited the scene of the tragedy or it may have been the knife with which the murder was committed. It is a little singular it was not found before, as more than once diligent search has been made for a weapon. The state took Hayden's knife, found blood on it, and have followed the theory that with it Mary Stannard's life was taken. The newly found knife is in possession of the state, to be microscopically examined. Detective Phelps, of Hartford, and others have been, it is alleged, frightening female residents of North Madison by poking around at unseemly hours looking after evidence in favor of Hayden, and pointing to Benjamin Stevens as the murderer. Finally, complaint being made to Deputy Sheriffs Hull and Hart, they warned the searchers to stop their prowling or they would be arrested for trespass.

A Russian correspondent writes that a flotilla of twelve torpedo boats, under the command of Admiral Schmidt, is now undergoing a course of instruction on the river Neve. At a given signal, the cutters fall into a single column, this being found the best plan of advance, with the commander at the head. No regular order is observed, but each scrambles into position in the line most convenient for it at the moment. In this manner the flotilla advances until it reaches within 1000 yards of the enemy, when it separates into two attacking columns, and wheels round in different directions to face respectively the port and starboard sides of the hostile fleet, still keeping, however, the distance of a mile between itself and the vessel to be attacked. The advance upon the enemy is then made in knots of twos and threes. The movements of the cutters are controlled by flag signals from the Admiral's cutter.

Mr. Spurgeon has declined to accept personally the gift of $25,000 which his congregation is raising to commemorate the completion of his twenty-fifth year's work as a Baptist minister, but will devote the amount to the establishment of a permanent fund for the aged poor of the Metropolitan Tabernacle almshouse, fourteen in number.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE PHYSIOLOGY OF THE LIVER.

The liver is the largest secreting organ in the human body, and the bile which it secretes is more liable to vitiation and misdirection from its proper channels than any other of the animal fluids. Luckily for the bilious, however, there is an unfailing source of relief from liver complaint, namely, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which for over a quarter of a century has been achieving thorough cures of the above mentioned ailments, fever and ague, dyspepsia, bowel complaints, rheumatic and kidney affections, and disorders involving loss of nervous vigor. It is, moreover, a preventive of malarial disease, and affords protection to thousands of persons residing in districts of country where that dire scourge is prevalent. As a remedy adapted to the medicinal requirements of families, it is supremely desirable, as a means of fortifying a debilitated system, it is thoroughly to be depended upon.

AN ASTONISHING FACT.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day dying from the effects of dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flowers. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all druggists on the western continent. Sold by James H. Taylor, Druggist.

L. D. DAVIS, AGNET,

Daily News Building.

The Newport Daily News and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, (Sundays excepted,) at the News building, 13 Church street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets, and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large, 32 column paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 00 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra, and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty five changes a year. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Newport Daily News.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1878.

Remember the poor.

Eat, drink and be thankful.

There will be no issue of the News tomorrow.

May not the silver dollar be called "mint extract?"

The corner stone of the new Roman Catholic Cathedral in Providence will be laid tomorrow with imposing ceremonies.

Mayor Doyle was re-elected in Providence yesterday, and the Republicans elected a majority of their candidates for the city council.

The steamship Pommerania, from New York, for Hamburg, collided with the Welsh bark Moel Eilian in the English Channel at midnight, Monday, and between fifty and sixty lives are supposed to have been lost.

At an adjourned meeting of Methodist lay delegates in Brooklyn, it was resolved that it was inexpedient to memorialize the General Conference to make a change in the rules of the church in reference to the term of the pastoral relation.

The Hon. J. S. Potter has prepared some statistics of American visiting in Europe, and arrived at the result that nearly 30,000 of our people cross the Atlantic every year and remain abroad an average of two years, at an annual expense of more than one hundred million dollars for all the Americans sojourning abroad.

Congress meets next week and then comes the tug of war. It is not to be expected, however, that any very radical legislation will be consummated, as the Democrats have one branch and the Republicans the other with a President sufficiently non-partisan to prevent excesses on either side. This condition of things may be regarded as, on the whole, rather fortunate. It prevents the triumphs of mere partisanship, and in a measure defeats the attempts, sure to be made, to legislate in the interests of leading politicians. It is doubtless for the interest of the country to have two parties and to have them so nearly equal that they can act as checks each on the other.

Some of the passengers on the Pommerania are well known in this city. Richard Clymer, reported lost, was for some time a pupil of Dr. Child, and the family spent last summer here. His mother, Mrs. Mary Heister Clymer, was the only sister of Hon. Heister Clymer, member of Congress and widow of W. B. Clymer, who died in Italy three years ago. She was on her way to Europe with her four children, Mary, Rose, Maria and Richard, where they were to complete their education. Only two of the family, Mary and Rose are saved. Mary Clymer says she was in the same berth as her sister Rose. They were awakened by the crash, and rushed on deck half dressed, to where the boats were being put off. They were there joined by their brother, who assisted her (Mary) into a boat. A sailor threw Rose in, but she fell into the water, and had to be dragged out. Richard, who remained on the steamer, showed great presence of mind. Refusing to get into the boat, already too full, and thinking his mother and sisters were all in it, the brave fellow cut the ropes setting them adrift. Mary and Rose were landed at Dover, and are at the Lord Worden Hotel there.

THANKSGIVING.

We do not propose to write an essay on the duty of giving thanks to Almighty God for the mercies and blessings of life. The day officially set apart for the public recognition of the Divine goodness to us as a people is at hand. The custom of this giving thanks is well established and has been long continued, and we find ourselves under renewed obligations at this time to improve the opportunity afforded us. As a people we have been greatly favored. The harvests are everywhere abundant, and plenty smiles on all the land. We are at peace with all the world, and have nothing to fear from foreign or domestic foes. The pestilence that ravaged a limited section has been stayed in its progress, and the scattered communities gather once more at their own firesides in hopeful trust of future good. The churches are enjoying more than their accustomed prosperity, and are everywhere doing well in gathering men from the ways of sin and fitting them for the Master's service on earth and the enjoyment of His presence in heaven. It is true, the year has brought its serious trials, and pressed the cup of sorrow to many lips, but even these afflictions are tempered with mercies when we remember that all things work together for the good of those who rightly improve the opportunities offered them. Let us, then, in everything give thanks to Him who is the author of all good and the giver of every blessing. It is a pleasant thought that the whole nation observes the coming day as one of thanksgiving and praise. Business will be suspended, the churches will be opened, families reunited around a common board, and all, in one way or another be brought face to face with the great truths set forth in this national holiday. And if we observe the day in a proper spirit we shall be better fitted for the days to come, and better prepared to act well our part in the drama of human life.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A Missouri man up for office is named Vest. He will be pulled down as soon as the paragraphers hear of him.

The Cincinnati Commercial thinks Mr. Evarts' $5,500,000 for a string of fish is a better trade than Mr. Seward's $7,000,000 for an iceberg with a seal on it.

There was a sensation in Milwaukee on Thursday over an attempt on the part of the relatives of Mrs. Fred Boynton to separate her from her young husband by alleging that she was insane. She had married Mr. Boynton against the wish of her parents. That sort of a craze strikes young people pretty often.

There are some people in South Carolina who seem determined to make a solid North in 1880. We can stand it if they can, however disagreeable it may be to continue the sectional issue.—[Boston Herald.

McCabe, the statesman who ran against Orth in Indiana, in a district which he ought to have carried under all the circumstances favoring him, is going to have the election held over again, this time by the House of Representatives. Elections by the House of Representatives have been popular for a number of years, but they have not always been in favor of the right man, while they rarely fail to bring trouble to the party which fondly hopes to benefit by them.—[Phila. Times (Dem.).

A CLEVER RETORT.

Watts, the psalmist, was one day engaged in digging dirt from his cellar, and whilst employed called forth the witticism of several bystanders upon the size of his person. Seeing he was not much higher than the spade he held in his hand, he retorted with the following splendid impromptu:

Had I the height to reach the pole,
To grasp the ocean with a span,
I'd still be measured by my soul,
The mind's the measure of the man.

GLEANINGS AND GOSSIP.

Moorish women wear engagement rings in the nose.

The injunction prohibiting the play of M'liss has been refused.

Victoria Woodhull says London just suits her. Every American will rejoice at the news.

Lacrosse has had a brilliant introduction at Baltimore under the auspices of the Athletic Club.

New Orleans will continue to be the capital of Louisiana, the proposition to remove the seat of government to Baton Rouge having been defeated by some 5,000 votes.

The present opera season in New York will close on Friday, and the company will then go to Boston for two weeks, opening the season at the Boston Theatre on Saturday night.

The meetings of Pentecost and Stebbins at Fall River were the largest religious gatherings ever held in the city, and the interest is so great that the revivalists have been asked to stay two weeks longer.

Mr. Edison is not able to prevent the noise on the elevated railway. He has got a contrivance to stop the noise, and he has discovered where the noise comes from and knows where it goes to, but don't appear to be able to find any place in between to put the machine.

During the last war 591,000 Russian soldiers poured down through Roumania into Turkey. Of these 58,000 were sent back by rail wounded and 62,150 ill, 31,000 sick went home to Odessa by sea, 29,000 are still in hospital, 31,000 laid their bones in Roumania and 99,000 perished in Bulgaria.

Colonel Mapleson will take with him the full strength of his company, including the admirable chorus and a grand orchestra under the direction of Signor Arditi, and the performances will be in every respect equal to those which have proved so satisfactory in New York, and the lovers of opera in Boston may count upon a season of unusual enjoyment.

The Discipline of Life—A person is not worth anything who has not had troubles. You cannot subdue a selfishness without a struggle. You cannot go through life without bearing burdens. But you are going to have help under circumstances that will redeem you from these things. You are going to experience more defeats. Your sufferings will be only here and there little spots in a whole field of peace and joy.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Messrs. Anthony & Parsons will present at the Opera House tomorrow afternoon and evening their "Uncle Tom's Cabin Company," which has been doing such an enormous business throughout New England this season. With a magnificent company and good management they have been the most successful of any travelling company on the road. It is astonishing the business that nightly welcomed the managers. People have been turned away at nearly every performance. At Lowell it was estimated that one thousand to fifteen hundred were unable to secure seats. At Manchester, N. H., 2,143 tickets were sold before the doors were opened, and from five to six hundred disappointed in even securing standing room. At Hartford, Conn., 3,012 tickets were sold, and at Springfield, 1,678 tickets. At Holyoke every seat was sold at 3 P. M., day of performance, and many turned away in the evening. Every night the company has had the pleasure of performing to a full house. At Bridgeport, Conn., on Saturday last, St. John's church, where the managers erected a stage and scenery, was twice crowded to its utmost capacity. The company is a strong one and has had praise and press encomiums on every point. The price of admission is 25 cents, with all reserved seats at 35 cents. The low prices have been the key note to the good success.

The Young Men's Christian Association will hold a general prayer meeting in the morning at quarter past nine. Persons interested in the success of the association, and who cannot attend the evening meetings are earnestly invited to be present at this meeting. In the evening, at half past seven o'clock, the association will hold a service, when Rev. Dr. Townsend, of Boston, will preach.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—A snow storm is predicted.

—Mayor Bedlow has returned from New York.

—Rev. W. J. Miller, of Bristol, is in town the guest of Mr. James F. Marden.

—A dramatic entertainment took place in the Reform Club Hall last evening.

—The ladies of the First Baptist Church will have a sale of fancy articles next week.

—The usual Thanksgiving turkey dinner will be served at the Newport Asylum tomorrow.

—Mr. Frasch, the well-known confectioner, has a Thanksgiving advertisement in these columns.

—All of the employes of the Post Office have been furnished with turkeys by Postmaster Coggeshall.

—A. P. Bashford, mate on board the U. S. steamer Nina, is confined to his home on account of illness.

—Mr. W. G. Taft, route agent of the New York and Boston Dispatch Express company, was in town yesterday.

—Cautionary signals ordered for this station this morning. A storm of increasing energy, central in the Ohio valley, northeast, veering to southeast winds are predicted.

—The industrial school of Zion Church has resumed its work for the winter and meets in the chapel every Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Children who desire to learn to sew are cordially welcomed.

—The postoffice will be open for business tomorrow from 6:30 to 10.30 A. M., and from 6 to 7:30 P. M. The lobby will remain open during the day and collections will be made from the street boxes as usual.

OLD COLONY ENGINE AGAWAM SUNK.—About 5.30 o'clock last evening, while the draw-bridge across the Fort Point channel, Boston was open for the passage of a vessel, the switch engine Agawam, coming toward Boston on the Old Colony Railroad, plunged into the opening and sunk in thirty feet of water. The engineer and fireman jumped from the engine in season to escape injury. A passenger train was standing on the Boston side of the draw, and the glare of its locomotive head-light so blinded the engineer of the switch engine that he did not discover that the draw was open in season to prevent the accident.

A NEW LIGHTHOUSE.—Notice is given that, Jan. 1st, 1879, a light will be shown from the new structure erected on Race Rock off the western point of Fisher's Island, the north side of the entrance to Long Island Sound. The light will produce alternate red and white flashes at intervals of 30 seconds, with short periods of eclipses. The light can be seen in clear weather from the deck of a vessel 15 feet above the sea, 11 nautical miles. A fog bell struck by machinery will be sounded during foggy weather, giving two blows in quick succession every twenty seconds. On and after Dec. 15, 1878, the characteristic light at Stratford Shoals will be flashing white at intervals of 15 seconds instead of flashing red and white at intervals of 20 seconds.

MR. EVANS'S LECTURE.

Mr. William Mason Evans lectured on "Crotchety People" at Odd Fellows hall last evening, being introduced by Mr. Jere. W. Horton. There was a fair-sized audience present. The lecturer gave many humorous incidents in the lives of crotchety people and some of his illustrations were very happy and provoked no little merriment. Others were not as well received, but the speaker appeared to do his best to please and to instruct his listeners. Before he had finished, all the people present thought that they were crotchety themselves and that the speaker also came under that head, a fact which Mr. Evans himself acknowledged.

The latter part of the lecture, in which the speaker drew a vivid and painful picture of the evils of strong drink, was interesting, and many of the illustrations of domestic life, while somewhat overdrawn, were appreciated.

The next lecture in the Odd Fellows course will be delivered December 5th, by Dr. J. G. Holland.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

Quite a fashionable wedding took place at Kay Chapel this noon, the contracting parties being Miss Mary T. Sargent, daughter of the late Gen. Sargent of Boston, and Rev. Thomas Burgess, rector of St. Luke's Church, St. Albans, Vt. Miss Sargent has been spending the season here with her mother and grandfather, Col. Jonathan Amory, of Boston, who are at present domiciled at Mrs. Wilson's on Beach street. The bridegroom is a son of Bishop Burgess, of Quincy, Illinois, and graduated at Brown University, in the class of '70.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Phillips Brooks, of Boston, assisted by the Rev. G. J. Magill, of this city. The duties of ushers were performed by Mr. James S. McCobb, and Mr. Olinto Spannocchia, of New York; Mr. S. A. Sargent and Mr. H. B. Sargent, of Boston; Mr. Thomas Burgess, of Providence and Mr. James DeBlois of this city. The chancel was prettily decorated with flowers.

The bride's dress, which was from Worth's, was of white satin, with trimmings of brocade and crape de Lisse, made with a long train of the satin. Contrary to the usual custom she wore a bonnet with long tulle veil and a few flowers. No jewelry was worn. The bridal boquet was of white roses, tied with loops of satin ribbon.

The bride's sister, Miss Nellie Sargent, wore white silk trimmed with white muslin, and on her head a French cap with roses. The bride was led to the altar by her grandfather, Mr. Amory, who gave her away. They were followed by her sister, on the arm of Mr. McCobb, one of the ushers. The bridegroom came next with the bride's mother, Mrs. M. L. Sargent.

Among the guests were Mrs. William Brooks, Amory Haskell, Miss Thayer, Miss Peters, Mrs. Samuel Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Amory from Boston, Ex-Mayor J. T. McCobb of Portland, Me., and Mrs. Capt. Paine, Miss Kingsbury and Frederick Burgess and family from Providence together with many Newporters.

After the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the Wilson cottage, to which a few of the personal friends were invited. It was an elegant affair. The happy couple left town on the 3 o'clock train for Boston. The presents were numerous and choice.

The grandfather of Miss Sargent was Consul at Cowes, England, for some time and had five sons in the late war, all of whom served with distinction. The bride's father was killed at the head of his regiment.

The bridegroom is intimately connected with a number of Rhode Island families, his grandfather being the late Judge Thomas Burgess, of Providence.

CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING.

"Rejoice and be exceeding glad" is the text of the hour, and well it may be, for from North and South, from East and West, from the lumber regions of Maine and the fertile fields of Texas come the myriad voices of renewed activity. The whirl of machinery sounds in increased volume along the rivers of Massachusetts and among the mountains of Pennsylvania, furnace fires that were long extinguished are once more alight, granaries that were disused are groaning with the rich fruits of a great harvest, there is now activity in our store houses and our dockyards; enterprise has shaken off its long paralysis, labor is finding renewed demand for its energies, and our whole country is bright with the dawn of a new day of prosperity. Here and there at some happy fireside an honored patriarch gathers about him his decendants to the third and fourth generations, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren surrounding the broad table that the venerable and kindly head has ordered to be spread for all alike. Daughters and sons, young men and maidens, the direct decendants of the founder of the family; and those who have joined it, though of other blood and nationality, are alike invited to a seat at the festival and a share of the gifts so bountifully provided, for one and all alike laughing girls and stalwart youths, dainty ladies and substantial men, shines the warm glow of the firelight; and to all the happiness of the scene and the luxuries of the feast each will be equally welcome.—[N. Y. Telegram.

At the dinner and reception given the Governor General in Halifax Monday night the Princess Louise wore a rich white ribbed silk petticoat surmounted by a dress composed entirely of black velvet, handsomely trimmed with clair de lune, jet head dress, diamond tiara, feathers and veil ornaments, diamonds and pearls, orders, the Victoria and Albert and Indian.

New York has a Society for the Relief of Poor Widows with Small Children, which during the last year has aided 800 widows at an expense of $15,000. The society was formed in 1797 in consequence of the distress caused by the ravages of the yellow fever, and it has done all its work without paying a cent for rent or salaries.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE OLD COLONY RAILROAD COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Old Colony Railroad Company was held in Boston yesterday, the President, Charles F. Choate, in the chair. After the acceptance of the report of the last meeting, the directors' report was taken up. The motion being upon the acceptance of the report, Rev. Calvin Terry, of Weymouth, spoke of the Silver Lake excursion train disaster, and entered his protest against the running of a train upon such a gambling expedition as was the Silver Lake affair. Silver Lake, he said, was a great nuisance, as the road offered facilities for reaching it upon all days and for all purposes.

He thought the report of the directors differed in its account of the accident from the finding of Justice Bumpus. The former placed the blame of the accident upon one conductor, the justice distributed the blame upon several persons. The speaker thought the accident reflected upon the management of the road.

H. H. Faxon of Quincy said he was upon a train upon this road when an accident occurred where a gate was smashed, and soon after he saw the gate tender come out of his round-house in a drunken condition. He hoped the road would employ no man who drank.

Another gentleman attacked the subject of free passes, expressing his hope that the Legislature would not receive them this year if stockholders were to receive no dividends.

The report was accepted.

Mr. J. H. Benton defended the road management, saying that the conductor of the freight train admitted, in the investigation, that he had no right to cross the inward track as he did, and that he violated the rules of the road in not sending out a signal light. He admitted further that it was his business to call for another man instead of going out short-handed. He did not do this, and the road management had no knowledge that he had not his complement of men. The gentleman who had attacked the management of the road came to the meeting every year determined to make as much trouble as possible with his one share of stock. Probably the trouble with him was that this morning he could not pass his wife as well as himself to Boston upon that one share.

Mr. Terry attempted to attack the management again, but objection was made to further discussion, as no business was before the meeting. It was moved that the Chair appoint a committee of five to receive and count the votes for directors.

The committee subsequently reported the election of the following-named, most of them unanimously, 10,016 votes being cast: Charles F. Choate, Cambridge; Frederick L. Ames, Easton; Thomas J. Borden, Fall River; John S. Brayton, Fall River; Uriel Crocker, Boston; Samuel L. Crocker, Taunton; Francis B. Hayes, Boston; Jacob H. Loud, Plymouth; George Marston, New Bedford; Onslow Stearns, Concord, N. H.; Royal W. Turner, Randolph; Elisha W. Willard, Newport; Ephraim N. Winslow, Hyannis.

MISS MARY CAREY AS POOR JO.

Next Monday evening Mr. Chas. H. Thayer's celebrated Dickens Company appear in the Opera House and present the dramatizaton of Dickens's great work of "Bleak House," entitled "Poor Jo." In this play Miss Carey, the favorite Boston actress, appears as "Poor Joe"—in which she won great praise at the Union Square Theatre, and Boston Museum. The following from the New York press tells of her success at the Union Square Theatre:—

"As 'Poor Jo' Miss Cary surprises all; her impersonation of the part is a piece of the most consummate art. The lady sinks her own individuality completely, and presents before us the exact ideal of Dickens, when picturing in language, as he alone could, the starved, ragged, homeless, hopeless, wan and dejected waif of the London streets, that Jo is described to be in the pages of 'Bleak House.' Miss Cary's make-up, dialect, conception and business in the part would seem to be unsusceptible of improvement. The love cherished by Jo for the poor law copyist, who in life had bestowed upon him a kind word; the dread of being ordered to 'move on' by Bucket; the pertinacity in adhering to the description of the lady who had come to see the stranger's grave, and lastly, his gratitude to Guppy for his efforts to smooth his thorny pathway, were almost vividly and touchingly portrayed by Miss Cary."—[New York Daily Graphic.

SHAKESPEARE'S ENIGMA.

Mr. Joseph Watson of this city has probably devoted more time to the study of "Hamlet" than any other person, and his theory of this enigmatical play is about to be made public for the first time. In his various lectures upon Shakespeare, delivered before the Newport Historical Society, the Newport Lecture Association and several literary societies in other States, Mr. Watson embodied fragments of his theory only; but the new theory, in its entirety, has just been printed at the News Job Office in a pamphlet, the edition being a private one. The author's remarkable views upon "Hamlet" are the result of fifteen years' assiduous labor, and, in some explanatory remarks, Mr. Watson says:

"William Maginn, after his pen had established the popularity of Blackwood's Magazine, declared that there could not be found in the known world, a person capable of writing a regular dissertation on 'Hamlet;' while Rev. H. N. Hudson argues that a theory establishing Hamlet, as either a sane or insane character, can never be created that will meet with general recognition from the literary world. These opinions are from eminent sources; but I have made an effort to rebut them by showing that the question can be discussed from entirely new standpoints, and it has been my endeavor to produce a theory regarding this enigmatical subject that shall be distinct in itself; for it must be admitted that even those critics and commentators who do not uphold the more prevailing theory of Hamlet's insanity, represent him as a person whose energies are blunted; whose noble intentions never take form, or as belonging to that class of unfortunates who, being 'led on through a dreamy labyrinth of speculation,' finally

'Close their dying eyes
In grief that they have lived in vain.'

It seems that all writers, who have ventured opinions upon the point, deny that Hamlet killed the king as a result of his own plans; or in accordance with that judicial revenge which Heaven had demanded of him; while my own theory is that he not only did so, but that he was a man of determined energy and action, whose life-long qualities of mind and principles were such as to constitute the highest order of manhood. It seeks also to rescue his memory from that which is worse than obscurity, and to award to him the glorious distinction of having, by means of his own plans and action, delivered Denmark from the yoke of a usurped and debauched throne. John Quincy Adams agreed with his friend Mr. Hackett and other authorities upon Shakespeare that Hamlet commenced by feigning, though he afterward became, at times, absolutely insane; but the theory herewith offered denies that any tinge whatever of real insanity could have existed at any time in his career."

Mary Anderson's "Juliet" is worth close attention. It is complained that she makes it too "heavy." But she justifies herself by teaching of Shakespeare. "Juliet," she says "isn't played so easy as Parthenia. There is so much in the part, I shall never be done studying it. I have read 'most everything that has been written about it, but, after all I go to Shakespeare. I don't think I'm too heavy. Juliet wasn't a sentimental schoolgirl. The play isn't a pretty love story. It's an awful tragedy. Why, how should I feel with my husband-lover killing my cousin and banished, my parents casting me off unless I marry somebody else, and I finally taking a poison I know nothing of, and expecting to wake up in a horrid tomb among bones, with Tybalt's corpse yet green, without feeling at all sure that the friar's plan would work. Read the language. Such speeches have got to be given strongly. Juliet's love was passionate, oh, yes,—but she had a strong character behind it." These opinions are worth recording. They may serve to illustrate, by the way, the fact that our actors both study and think.—["Saunterer," in Springfield Republican.

ISOLATION OF DIPHTHERIA.

In a paper read at the late meeting of the American Medical Association, Dr. Bowditch, of Boston, took the ground,

1. That, in case of diphtheria occurring in a pupil attending school, the patient should be wholly separated from other children until two or three weeks after his recovery; that those who had been specially exposed should be allowed to attend only after careful medical examination; that, where several were afflicted, the school should be closed, and as many of the children as possible removed for several weeks from the place.

2. That all clothing used by a diphtheritic patient should be subjected to intense heat, either of dry air, or of boiling water.

3. That the room should be thoroughly ventilated during the patient's illness, and afterward disinfected.

4. That where the disease is prevailing as an epidemic, it would be desirable in summer to erect a large hospital tent in an airy position, whither all the patients might be at once transferred, and in winter fit up one of the houses, or even a barn, for the same purpose.

5. That we should treat diphtheria as we do scarletina and smallpox.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE.
Consumers should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much farther and works so much better, that its economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, wholly without eggs, and that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by Physicians everywhere.
Dr. S. DANA HAYES, State Assayer of Massachusetts, reports after making an analysis of Royal Baking Powder,—"That the materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome."
The "Royal Baking Powder" is taking the place of Soda, Saleratus, Cream Tartar and Yeast, on account of its Superiority, Convenience, and Wholesomeness. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.

The President has issued the following proclamation, setting apart Thursday, November 28, as a day of thanksgiving:

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

A PROCLAMATION.

The recurrence of that season at which it is the habit of our people to make a devout and public confession of their constant dependence upon the Divine favor for all the good gifts of life and happiness and of public peace and prosperity, exhibits in the year abundant reasons for our gratitude and thanksgiving. Exuberant harvests, productive mines, ample crops of the staples of trade and manufactures have enriched the country. The resources thus furnished to our reviving industry and expanding commerce are hastening the day when discords and distresses, through the length and breadth of the land will, under the continued favor of Providence, have given away to confidence and energy and assured prosperity,—Peace with all nations has remained unbroken; domestic tranquility has prevailed, and the institutions of liberty and justice which the wisdom and virtue of our fathers established remain the glory and defence of their children. The general prevalence of the blessings of health through our wide land has made more conspicuous the sufferings and sorrows which the dark shadow of the pestilence has cast upon a portion of our people. The heavy affliction upon the Divine Ruler has tempered to the suffering communities in the universal aid and sucor which have flowed to their relief, and the whole nation may rejoice in the unity of spirit in our people by which they cheerfully share one another's burdens.

Now therefore I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 28th day of November next, as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular cares and labors, the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of worship, there to give thanks and praise to Almighty God for His mercies and to devoutly beseech their continuance.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 30th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and third.

(Signed) R. B. HAYES.

By the President,
WM. M. EVARTS,
Secretary of State.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency Charles C. Van Zandt, Governor of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations.

In accordance with ancient custom and with a devout consciousness of the blessings which a kind Heavenly Father has bestowed upon all our people, I appoint THURSDAY, THE TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY OF NOVEMBER, INST., as a day for THANKSGIVING, and I request the inhabitants of this State to pause in their avocations, and at their places of public worship and in their homes to offer heartfelt thanks to Almighty God for the bountiful harvests that crown the year with plenty, the health and happiness that brighten our Commonwealth, the business prosperity that is dawning upon our land, and for all his limitless love and mercy.

In our pleasant family reunions may we remember the poor and the friendless with that practical charity which blesses alike the giver and the receiver.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State to be affixed at Providence, this fourth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, of the founding of the State the two hundred and forty-third, and of Independence the one hundred and third.

CHARLES C. VAN ZANDT.

By the Governor:
JOSHUA M. ADDEMAN, Secretary of State.

FARM AND GARDEN.

CUT OR GROUND HAY.—In some places hay is cut into inch and half-inch pieces and ground, for the purpose of feeding cattle, etc., in the belief of its adding to the nutrition of the food. We always doubted this theory, for the reason that hay fed in the usual manner performed all the offices of nutrition, as it was perfectly digested, and there was nothing more to be attained. But in order to sustain our theory, we consulted an old, careful livery-stable keeper, who had many horses, and who, in a long series of years, studied the profit and loss in the various supplies for his stock. He said there was nothing gained in feeding cracked corn, but, on the contrary, there was a loss in the increased price demanded for it. Also, that cut hay was a loss to extent of the labor, which was by no means a trifle. Good hay and none other should be fed—is eaten up clean where not too much is given at a time. Oats should be fed whole, mixed with a little bran and moistened. He said he usually gave each horse, in the evening, a couple ears of corn in the cob, and they were greatly relished. His horses were in the best of health, he having lost but two by disease in thirty years.—[Germantown Telegraph.

ROSES IN POTS.—The ever-blooming roses are best for house culture in pots, because they bloom quicker and more continuously than any of the others, and, besides this, their style and habit of growth is more bushy and better adapted to the purpose. They can be kept nicely with other growing plants, and with proper attention to their requirements will bloom freely. (1.) Do not use too large pots—if possible not more than three or four inches. The rule is one size larger than the plants have been grown in. The smaller the pot—provided, of course, it is large enough to contain the plant—the quicker and stronger the plant will start. It is very difficult to get a small plant to live and grow in a large pot. A rose will not bloom much till the pot is well filled with roots; therefore small pots facilitate quick bloom. If the pots are old, they should first be thoroughly washed. If new, they should first be soaked in water; otherwise they will absorb the moisture from the plant. (2.) Have good, rich soil—mellow and friable. That made from old decomposed sods is best. If manure is used, it should be old and thoroughly composted; fresh manure is injurious. (3) Put some bits of broken crockery, charcoal, or other similar material, in the bottom of each pot to facilitate drainage, then enough fine earth to raise the plant to a proper height. It should not be much deeper than it was before. Next put in the plant and spread out roots as near their natural position as possible; then fill in fine earth and press firmly down with the hand. When done, the pot should not be quite full; a little space is needed for water. (4.) When well potted, water thoroughly, and if the sun is strong, shade for a few days, then give full light and air. Though the plant should not be allowed to wither for want of water, the earth should get moderately dry before watering again. Too much water is worse than not enough. Very little water is needed until the plant starts to grow.—[Guide to Rose Culture.

Miscellaneous.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means an indubitable specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And we unhesitatingly say it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day circulated by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country rally around it as superior to every other method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those which call for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an unsolicited endorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could hear of, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, as I made the transit across of the river, and my pass—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is too remarkable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

A Complete Fertilizer.

The success of the Complete Fertilizer, made up on the basis of wood ashes, has been such as to call for the preparation of a much larger quantity for present use. One farmer who had half a ton last spring, now orders ten tons for grass and fall sowing. Others are also calling for it in larger quantities and I shall have a supply ready for delivery on or before September first. It is especially adapted to pasture and grass, and now is the best time to sow it for next season's crop. None of the ingredients are wasted and the bone, potash, etc., will be in soluble condition for the desired effects early next spring.

The fertilizing ingredients in this preparation are obtained at less price than in the best leached ashes at 15 cents a bushel, and the mechanical action on the soil is equally good.

Farmers or Gardeners who desire further particulars of its composition, can obtain the desired information by sending for a circular. It is sold retail at less than the retail price of the several ingredients, and every article used in making it up is subjected to analysis to determine its purity. Price $40 a ton. L. D. DAVIS,

Let the JOURNAL be compared with any other weekly paper published in the south part of the state and its superiority in the quantity and quality of its contents, particularly in its news departments, will be at once seen. In it are found every week all the minor matters of local news and reports of entertainments, meetings, celebrations, etc., in Newport and vicinity that in fullness and excellence will compare favorably with reports in the papers of larger cities.

We state not so much an opinion as a fact, that will become apparent to any disinterested person who compares it with other papers, when we say that, for all residents of Newport county and all persons who have moved out of the county but wish to keep posted regarding affairs at their old home the best paper without exception

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Great Through Line

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE.

The attention of the traveling public is respectfully invited to a use of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other known or equal number of miles of through travel. In stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

CONSTRUCTION AND EQUIPMENT

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line will illustrate the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement is considered, the cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM of SAFETY SIGNALS,

Janney Coupler Buffer and Platform,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safe guards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

PULLMAN PALACE CARS

Are run on all Express Trains
